WE NOMINATE

William Ernest Coley, the singularly able Executive Director of the Princeton Area United Community Fund and the allied Council of Community Services, who over the past three years has helped inject new life into Princeton's "human institutions" by lifting the sights of an entire area and sharpening its sense of responsibility for sustaining and strengthening essential services. To the 50-year old Coley, called here from Eastern Massachusetts in the Spring of 1960 by a small group of troubled citizens, belongs a large measure of credit for reviving the conception of a truly United Fund, an ideal that was limping along, almost on the rim of extinction, in the late 1930's.

While Coley, a realist if there ever was one, understands and stresses that the United Fund's successes in 1960, 1961 and 1962 were attributable to the "intangibles of dedicated volunteer leadership," it was his know-how, experience and drive which provided the needed catalyst. Only thrice in 22 years (in 1911, 1918 and 1955) had the Fund, formerly the Community Chest and since 1956 the United Fund, equalled or exceeded its announced goal. Since Coley's arrival the Princeton Area has raised nearly $800,000, a record topped by this year's splendidly conceived First Annual United Fund-Red Cross Campaign with a total approaching $315,000.

English-born, the son of a British Infantryman killed on the Western Front in World War I, and transported to Springfield, Mass., in his infancy, Coley brings to his profession an unusual degree of expertise and a high respect for the aspirations and capacities of others. In explaining how it was possible to broaden the base of participation from 5,200 in 1959 to 11,000-plus donors in 1962, he will underscore the impact of the payroll deduction plan; however, he will insist that "sensitive leadership" and "Princeton's growing realization of the urgent need of the 20 agencies concerned" were infinitely more important factors.

It was the challenge of Princeton as a center oriented to education and research that prompted Coley, who senses better than most that public relations are just concerned with what institutions are and, second, with what people think they are, to turn his back on New England. The assignment here tapped more than three decades of effort in social work and civic affairs, including the years he was "working his way through" both high school and college and some 15 years (1916-1960) as the hard-driving Executive Director of the Community Funds of three New England cities, Salem, Marblehead and Danvers.

Even before he entered Springfield College (Mass.) with the Class of 1938, Coley had been identified with publicly sustained recreational programs and then combined college studies with a full-time position as the City of Springfield's Supervisor of Recreation. The founding director of Springfield's widely known South End Community Center and the organizer of the Chicopee, Mass., Community Chest, his interests down through the years have embraced the Red Cross, Children's Case Work, the Boy Scouts, graduate study in education at the Salem Teachers' College, the presidency of Two-Light Baseball Leagues and directorships in such area-wide organizations as the New England Chests and Councils and the Massachusetts Conference of Social Work.

For richly meriting the honor the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce bestowed upon him last Fall in recognition of "outstanding community services on a year-round basis"; for endowing both individuals and organizations with a sense of purpose and achievement; for never asking of others more than he would be willing to give himself; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

HOW DO WE LOOK?

The Business Picture. What was the shape and size of the Princeton business community
at the end of 1962?
Each quarter of the business year, TOWN TOPICS
publishes its "Business Index,"
a rule-of-thumb guide to the economic life of Nassau Street and its tributaries. At the end of each year, a "Profile of the Year" show not only the standard statistics about bank balances and new car sales, but also these fascinating off-beat figures that light up an obscure corner here and there.

The Business Index for the fall quarter of 1962 is published on page 22. The year's profile appears below.

Up and Up. As usual, it's a
"plus" story. And these "plus"
marks are significant because they are related, not only to Princeton's growth, but to the growth of all the communities around Princeton.

A rise of three percent in checking accounts found in the corresponding quarter in 1961,
a rise of 27 percent one of the largest quarterly increases recorded since the Index was first published three years ago in new car sales, an increase of 10 percent in bank loans—all these had a reference not only to Princeton but to its neighbors, as well.

Men and women from West
Windsor, Montgomery, Lawrence, Hopewell, come into Princeton to bank, to negotiate loans, to buy cars and to the parking meters while they shop. Businessmen complain

sometimes about competition
from outlying shopping areas,
but the continuing, steady growth of the heart of Princeton goes right on, and Princeton businessmen continue to serve customers who must cross municipal boundaries to get into town.

The year's profile reflects
this growth. Where minus figures occur, they reflect stability
rather than decline, as in the Borough where new housing starts were off by 53 percent over the year, and by 22
percent since the last quarter.

In the Township, where they sometimes say, tentatively,
that maybe the building boom
is quieting down, there was an overall yearly increase of 34
percent in new housing starts
over 1961, although by a quarter to a quarter comparison
there was a 34 percent decline.
Housing starts during the fall quarter were 56 percent higher than in the summer. (Incidentally, building permit fees continue to show that new houses average about $25,000
each.)

As they so often do, those whopping percentages tear in this quarter's index, showing again the University's continuous building and renovating program. The value of the building permit fees leaps 120 percent from the summer quarter and 430 percent from the water quarter
of 1961 because of University
projects.

Books and Library Fines.
What happened in Princeton
in 1962, aside from the fact that precisely the same number of people bought new cars
in the fall of 1962 and the fall
of 1961?

For one thing, fewer people took more books out of the Princeton Public Library. In 1961, there were 1,310
Princeton residents who were card-carrying members of the library. In 1962, there were only 5,555. Non-resident users dropped from 570 to 437.

But circulation figures show
that more books in circulation. In 1962, 220,783 books went out of the library and came back in again, compared to 217,740 in 1961. People kept those books longer, too, paying the library $484.66 more in fines. 1962: $3,793.50. 1962
$6,278.16.)

People who weren't paying library fines (and maybe some who were) went traveling.
Princeton's two banks together, sold $1,851,880 worth of travelers' checks during 1962.

Another kind of traveler contributed his bit, too. Traffic court fines brought $44,739
into the Borough, almost exactly as much as in 1961 ($44, 628). In the Township, life was a good bit rougher on the careless motorist than it had been in 1961. Traffic fines increased $2,302, from 6,043 to $8,345.

Departments of vital statistics recorded 268 Borough
deaths, to 79 in the Township,
possibly a reflection of older
families in the more settled Borough and newer families
in the still-growing Township.
Borough officials issued 106

NEW BANK HEAD. William
R. Cook was 56 percent higher than in 1961, and was elected

ceeding George R. Cook, 3d,

marriage licenses, Township
Clerks, 49.

On the Job. Twenty representative companies report a three percent upswing in employment during 1962, not quite the 17 percent increase which was reported in 1961.
The general trend, therefore,
is still up—but not quite so much so.

The University, always the largest employer, took on 103
additional employees in 1962;
RCA added 50. Educational Testing Service, 65. These are the three giants. Totals for all three are University, 3,330;
RCA, 1,200; ETS, 711.

Princeton Hospital, until line has 19 fewer employees in 1962 than in 1961. Two retail establishments dropped personnel, one from 190 to 150 and the other from 22 to 18.

Each quarter and at the end of each year, many Princeton individuals and organizations are in the preparation of these index figures. TOWN TOPICS would like to take this opportunity to thank them
all for constant valuable assistance.

STILL WAITING

For Water Decision. Members of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, were scheduled to gather this Wednesday for their third meeting
in the Princeton-Elizabethtown Water Company stock sale. There was no indication that any final decision would be reached.

At Township Committee
Monday night, Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman said that 1964
Township would join the Borough in any studies it cared to make on public ownership
of the Princeton Water Company.

Both Borough and Township have told the P.U.C. that they favor immediate approval of the Elizabethtown sale so that water plant expansion can get under way to time to do

Even at a sale you spend money. So consider well where you spend it. Although a sale at Manning's mean even greater values than usual (and this is considerable!) . . . you are not sacrificing courteous service, the pleasant atmosphere and reliability that has made Manning's famous.

So, we invite you to stop in this week, as early as possible, to sample our sale. The wide and varied selections will delight you, we're sure. And so will the prices. If you've never been here before, this is the perfect time to get to know Manning's.

Round-Up

Mid-week developments within the Princeton business scene indicate that the next tenant of the late Balt restaurant (see page 10) will be Jinkins's Stationery Store . . . the latter has been given notice to vacate its long-established spot in the Upper Pyne Building at 74 Nassau, has been operating a branch at 142 Nassau for several months and would now consolidate at 82 Nassau if the negotiations now under way reach the lease-signing stage. The Nassau Coffee Shop, operated by Frank Pietriferio at 154 Nassau Street, expects to replace the light Bakery at 84 Nassau, while also continuing in its present location.

An end to the recent hearings in Superior Court on Radin Station IIWII vs. residents of Hopewell Township and the municipality is imminent . . . a decision favoring the Nassau Broadcasting Co., which Herbert W. Hanley heads, would put his frequency on the air this spring or summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ferguson, domestics employed by Gov. and Mrs. Richard J. Hughes at "Moreen," departed without notice Sunday afternoon . . . Gov. Hughes reported that he sponsored their entry into this country from Scotland and advanced them $600 for transportation, in return for which they promised to remain in his employ for a year, has filed a writ of attachment against the pair.

The First Aid Unit and Rescue Squad reports that it is not associated with a door-to-door solicitation currently being made by an out-of-town organization, whose similarity in name has created some confusion . . . such canvassing is not a part of the First Aid Unit's policy.

The car-top slasher in the Palmer Square area is at it again . . . latest victim is a convertible owned by Robert Comly of the Silver Shop. Other acts of vandalism, a garbage pail tossed against a window at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Dickey, 104 Jefferson.

some good during next summer's dry spells. However, Council decided at its last meeting that the question of public ownership should be explored, and turned the matter over to the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations for study.

Mayor Fairman pointed out that the mere fact of sale would not change the value of the company. It would increase in value, and therefore in cost to the municipalities, only after the improvements had been made, he said.

Meanwhile, Assemblyman Charles Farrington charged this week that Princeton was being "frightened" into accepting the Elizabethtown sale. He said that last summer's water problems had been solved, and that Elizabethtown could not do anything that the Princeton Water Company couldn't do. Commenting on the ability of Elizabethtown to provide needed capital, Mr. Farrington said the company would merely borrow money on the Princeton Water Company's credit to finance its improvements.

SCHOOL BUDGET CUT
By Township Board. The Township School Board pared $63,758 — about 612 tax points — from its $2,003,939 budget and then passed it at a special meeting held Monday night. A detailed explanation of the revised budget will be sent to every Township household.

Passage Monday followed a stormy public hearing Thursday night attended by a record crowd of almost 150 highly critical Township residents. Saturday, Board members got out their knives and, in a seven-hour executive work session, whittled the budget to its present figure.

The revisions increase the school tax rate from 1.547 in 1962 to 1.735.

Criticism at the public hearing centered around these points: a 1-18 teacher-pupil ratio which many persons felt was too low; administrative salaries, thought to be too high; provision for a psychiatric consultant and, as a general undercurrent, a feeling of uneasiness over continuing yearly budget increases.

At the outset, Richard Pearson, Board chairman, John McKenna, superintendent, and Board members Mrs. Richard Schoch, A. Robert Trudel and George Grace, outlined the reasons for the increases:

- Constantly-rising school population, with 275 more chil-

BUDGET MAN: Richard Pearson, chairman of the Township School Board, who maintained order and an unflinching equilibrium during a slightly stormy public hearing on the Township's School budget.

• The $73,265 tuition increase charged by the Borough for Township students in the high school.

• Teacher salary increases already worked out on a common scale with the Borough. Mrs. Schoch told the audience that these increases put the Township back in the top quartile of teachers' salaries in the state. The Township had slipped to such a low position that teacher recruitment had become difficult, she said.

Objections Raised. Fireworks started after this explanatory beginning. Col. C. G. Blakeney, 175 Clover Lane, said all transportation should be discontinued, guidance and psychological personnel eliminated, the teacher-pupil ratio raised and the janitorial staff cut, saving $300,000. Mrs. Jess Epstein, of the Board, reminded Col. Blakeney that state law requires transportation. Mr. Pearson said the Board retained psychologists, not for therapy, but to watch for troubled children and refer them for help.

Comments on the student-teacher ratio persisted throughout the evening, although Dr. McKenna and Board members reiterated that 1-19 presented an arithmetic picture only. The ratio is a product of the fact that art, music and gym teachers, librarians and nurses are included in the faculty count.

This makes the ratio seem, on paper, to be lower than it really is. Dr. McKenna said, for example, that there are 30 children in each of two first grades at Community Park.

"Can We Afford It?" "This ratio is the place where revaluation is possible," said James Warren, 152 Hickory Court. "The implications of extending this policy ad infinitum are sobering. Can we still afford to maintain it?"

Mr. Warren commended later by Mr. Pearson for having made the most astute financial comments of all who spoke, also criticized the 30 percent increase in administrative costs, including an administrative assistant to Dr. McKenna and some salary increases.

Hold the Rate. Throughout the running comments on specifics, often made by men who referred to themselves as experienced in the business world, ran a strain summarized by John S. Mount, 116 Magnolia Lane, who said, "I feel uneasy at a $2 million budget."

"We're advancing faster than we would have if we hadn't started so low," replied L. E. Purvis, 207 Russell Road. "The market place tells us we have something good here, because our fine schools attract people to the Township and this makes costs go up. You can't have all this and 29-cent bacon, too."

"We want the tax rate held!" said R. F. Dauer, 46 Parkside. "We must keep saying 'no, no, no.' We must take a look at teacher's salaries, and run the system as we would run a successful business."

In reply to these remarks and others, Dr. McKenna replied: "We could run a very economical program, double the class size and save $1 million, eliminate art, music, foreign languages. The Township can have exactly what the people want."

Reference was made to a letter asking for information on procedure and policy, and requesting a hold-the-line approach to taxes. It was signed by Franklin A. Steel, Richard K. Payater, III, Leighton Laughlin, Theodore G. Kane, Edwin W. Wilson, Oscar Merik and Sidney Blaxill.

Hold the Standards. "I favor keeping the standards we have," said Mrs. A. L. Keiser, Jr. 170 Jefferson Road. "If we increase the student-teacher ratio, we decrease the individual attention to each child. At this point, the board and teachers began to mount and John J. Hamel, 325 Harris Road, who had spoken first during the evening, said to the Board, "We are asking that you control much more rigidly than you have been willing to do so far."

When Dr. McKenna commented in reply, Dr. Hamel shouted, "I'm going to fight with you in about one minute," then set forth his grievance against Dr. McKenna, accusing him of obscuring the issues, and adding a personal attack. The superintendent did not reply.

Previous public hearings on Township school budgets had attracted few people, sometimes only half a dozen. Monthly Board meetings are also sparsely attended. Mr. Hamel pointed out these facts and said that, because Township residents had not attended meetings, Board members had been forced to hammer out an educational philosophy "in a vacuum."

At Monday night's meeting, Mrs. Keiser reminded the audience that two college presidents — Richard Sullivan of Reed College and James Perkins, newly appointed to Cornell — had been Township school board members during the years when educational philosophy had been shaped in the Township.

Next installment. Monday night's meeting was not a hearing, although the 50 persons who attended apparently thought it was. Legally, the hearing had concluded Thursday night and the Board could not, by law, have heard additional comment Monday night.

The Board presented its revised budget, described the $65,000 worth of parking, and passed it unanimously. Voters will give their decision on February 13. If they reject it, the Board must review, then re-submit the revised budget again. If the voters reject it a second time, it goes to Township Committee and if it is repeatedly rejected, it could eventually go to the County Superintendent of Schools for action. No Township budget within memory has been turned down.

The revisions:

- $20,000 taken from unfunded surplus and added to the budget. The Board had hoped to keep this amount in reserve against emergencies.
- No new administrative assistant to the superintendent, reduction in some salary increases for administrative personnel.

- Provision for only 10 new teachers instead of 12. The extra two had been included as a cushion against unexpected enrollment increases.

- No psychiatric consultant. Ten-month, instead of 12-month contracts for psychological and guidance personnel.

- No contingency funds for an additional bus route, should one be needed. Athletic trip allocation cut in half.

- One new janitor eliminated.

Mr. Grace, as finance chairman, pointed out that even if per-pupil costs remained precisely the same and there were no increases in salaries or high-school tuition, the anticipated increase of 27% in student enrollment would still require a $173,250 budget increase.

Don't Hold Your Breath

When can I toss out
That cruddy ole boot
And wiggle my hips
In a pink bathing suit?

—I WANNA NOW

There's no law against pink bathing suits around here in January, but common-sense might have a word to say.

So might the upcoming weather forecast rain, changing to snow, with another dip by the temperature below freezing. Snowfall for the winter is running behind normal, and the Man said, and somebody is out to get even.

Freeze. The present, revised increase is $242,000.

CAR WASH OK'D

On "Use" Basis. Acting strictly within the confines of the zoning ordinance, the Township Zoning Board approved last Thursday a car wash on Route 206. The recommendation will now go to Township Committee.

This is the same route taken by the car-wash application a year ago. At that time, the Zoning Board gave its approval, but Township Committee later turned the application down because of water and sewer problems on Route 206.

This time, the Zoning Board made it plain that approval was granted because a car wash is a suitable use for a service district. Problems of water and sewerage are in the province of the Board of Health and Township Committee. Chairman Leonard C. Johnson said.

About 50 persons attended the meeting, an unusually high number for a zoning hearing. Those who objected to the car wash said that the supply of well water in the area might go down if the facility were established.

The application was made by Saverio Mangione, 40 Jefferson Road.

In other action, the Zoning Board approved the application of Carter Princeton Electronics on Alexander Street for permission to continue using the premises for the assembly of electronic products.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED. For Adult School. The Princeton Adult School will hold an Open House this Thursday from 4 to 6 in the Princeton High School cafeteria. Those attending are requested to use the Walnut Lane entrance.

Included in the program will be a display of work done by students in the previous term and a book exhibit prepared by the Public Library. Faculty members and the adult education committee will be present to answer questions and acquaint students with the courses to be offered.

News Of The Theatres

the Juilliard String Quartet on March 25 complete the list of musical offerings at McCarter for this spring.

"YOUNG ABE" OFFERED to Children's Series: The Children's Entertainment Series opens at McCarter next Tuesday with "Young Abe Lincoln." Darrell Sandeen plays the leading role. Curtain goes up at 3:30.

This is the first of four children's plays being sponsored by the Princeton Borough P.T.A. Tickets are available through Mrs. W. V. O'Neill of 115 Lafayette Road between 1 and 3 p.m.

PLAYHOUSE

40 Pounds of Trouble (now playing) is traceable to a Shirley Temple film of some years ago, "Little Miss Marker." It introduces a captivating little girl, Claire Wilcox, in the title role.

Phil Silvers is consistently funny as the owner of a big Las Vegas gambling casino and hotel. Tony Curtis plays the part of the casino manager, and Jeanette Plesiet is the pretty vocalist at the club.

Little Claire is left as a marker by her father while he makes a hurried trip for more money to cover gambling losses. He is killed en route, and Claire presents Curtis with a real problem. Some of the film's most amusing episodes involve the two. There is also an extended sequence wherein Curtis and Miss Plesiet take Claire on a visit to Disneyland. Comment: family comedy.

GARDEN

Candide (now playing) is a modern departure from Voltaire's caustic novel on society. Jean-Pierre Cassel, last year's "Five-Day Lover," plays the role of a native young Frenchman who journeys through Germany, the United States, Indonesia, and, of course,

France, Israeli star, Dahlia Lasko-starred. He is excellent in the exacting role of the captain who comes to admire Billy Budd, but feels bound by British law. New to the screen, but extraordinarily suited to the role of Billy, young Stamp sets with convincing charm of naivete. It must be remembered that story was written 71 years ago when heroic characters of fiction were less sophisticated than today.

Robert Ryan is the psychopathic, coldly vicious Claggart, who enjoys the hatred he instills in both officers and men. Melvyn Douglas plays an ailing seaman called the Dansker, who has observed much suffering during his service on the ship. The rigors of life at sea and the cruelty of discipline in the British Navy during wartime are shown in agonizing details of sight and sound. Because the story is essentially a study in depth of the characters and their suppressed emotions, it develops slowly, gradually bringing forth the strength and power of the moral situation. Comment: justice vs. the law.

NEW STRAND

Rules of the Game and The Age of Inidelity (Thurs. thru Sat.) Jean Renoir made "Rules of the Game" in 1939 and it is now judged a close second to his "Grand Illusion". In 1939, its corrosive portrayal of the decadent aristocracy made the fall of France seem almost inevitable. It was not a popular film at the time, even in the mutilated version permitted by the Government. When France did indeed fall a few months later, it proved equally unpopular with the Vichy Government and the Nazis, who destroyed all of the prints they could find. Enough of it escaped so that, in 1956, a complete version was released. "The Age of Inidelity" is a serious adult comedy, directed by Jean Barden, a Spaniard whose name is not so familiar to American audiences. Comment: fine films.

On the Bowery and Come Back, Africa (Sunday night only) are both directed by Leonid Rogosin. "On the Bowery" was his first film, produced in 1956. He lived as a dorect for six months to absorb the atmosphere and gain the confidence of the people he wanted to work with. The film won the Grand Prize in Venice.

"Come Back, Africa" was covertly filmed in the colored suburbs of Johannesburg under the scrutiny of the South African police, who thought Rogosin was making a Fitzpatrick travelogue. This is a slightly fictionalized documentary of Negro life in South Africa. In both films, the voters, dialogue and continuity are provided by inhabitants themselves. Comment: thought provoking.

IT'S NEW To Us

NEW FRIENDS AND OLD
Time for Both. Two new stores opened in Princeton this week, both of them serving hobbyists of one kind or another, and an old, familiar friend returned for her annual visit.

The old friend, of course, is the Smith College Club auction, scheduled for this Saturday in the gymnasium at Miss Fine's School. The two new friends are the Fabric Center, 25 Witherspoon, dedicated to ladies who sew, and Princeton Hobby and Craft at 242½ Nassau, between Chestnut and Pine, arranged for every kind of hobbyist from model railroaders age 35 to Cub Scouts age third grade.

If You Sew... Although the new Fabric Center at 25 Witherspoon is completely stocked right up to the rim of the bobbin, its heart and core, according to the new owners, is the slip-cover section that occupies the rear of the shop.

Here you will find drapery and slip-cover fabrics from the looms of Waverly and Schumacher, among others. There are dramatic documentaries and suave antique satins, cheerful little provincial prints and Glosheen cottons.

All of these can be pin-fitted right in your living-room for the sleekest kind of custom slip-cover work. Or, if you are pretty good yourself, you can

1963 Models

Trend-spotting is a pleasant hobby. We have become so accustomed to the standardization that is symbolized by the kit, that we were surprised the other day to see the first signs of a centrifugal action away from packaged kits and toward individualism.

At the new Princeton Hobby and Crafts, you can buy separate automobile model parts and make your very own car, right from the ground up. On a rack, you will find envelopes containing wheels, various chassis parts, engines, seals—everything that goes into the building of a little plastic car.

You take these home and create your own hot rod, or just a pleasantly luke rod, if that is your choice, and nobody will have one like it, nobody at all.

buy the yardage to take home. There are pleater tops to use in your draperies, slip-cover slippers, ball and most fringe and every kind of drapery or curtain rod you ever heard of.

Advice is available, too. Suppose you have a problem window, a bay-window that needs a special, curving rod, or a track installed in a ceiling. This is the place to pour out your soul. And after you've finished with the big work, the slip-covers and the drapes, why not pick up a bare foam pillow to cover in your favorite fabric? Foam by the foot is ready to cut, incidentally, if you have some elaborate project afoot.

On the dressy side, this fabric shop has linens for sheaths (they prefer the non-irishable linen blends, but both kinds are here), washable spring wools for a little suit, broadens in rayon or silk priced from $1.50 to $5 and including a gold mylar, such standbys as Indianhead, Bates, Everfast, Fuller and Peter Pan cottons and celanese prints with chiffon prints to match.

Patterns are from McCall, Simplicity and Modes Royale. Singer's library of sewing pamphlets ranges from how-to-sew for little girls on up to slip-covers.

"Findings" and trimmings include every size and color that Talon produces in its zipper factory, and a fascinating square wheel (yes, square wheel!) of trimmings like organdy embroidered ruffling, sleek black braid, gold rope, laces and ribbons printed and plain.

For knitters, there are mohairs, wool-nylon blends, nubies and like from Urnati, Columbia and Minerva, among others. Look at the no-frame hook rug kit.

TIME TO SPARE?

Pick up a Hobby. Rolling stock is the chief slack in trade at the new Princeton Hobby and Crafts shop which has opened at 242½ Nassau Street, across from the new Bell Telephone building between Chestnut and Pine.

These fascinating new roadways with their perfectly scaled little cars, curves, houses and accessories are here, right next to the HO trains that are their perfect complement. Both these indoor sports are popular hobbies with boys and with men, who spend a great deal of time and thought on layout and precision equipment.

For these ardent hobbyists, Princeton Hobby and Crafts will be open every night in the week except Saturday until 9. This means that hurried commuters can have a good dinner, then refresh themselves with an hour of browsing over new equipment or exchanging ideas with a fellow hobbyist or two. Repair parts for HO and for the model roadways are here, and a repair service, too, for men whose do-it-yourself only goes so far.

Prefer to get off the ground? Look at the aircraft you can buy ready to fly up right through the fog. Engines, the gasoline to run them, spark plugs and everything else you need is right here in the hanger, so to speak. Younger hobbyists will have trouble choosing which Indian artifact to reconstruct: the bead-tooth necklace, the beaded belt, the leather pouch. You can buy beads separately, too, for easier spilling on the floor, and from these you can make custom stuff, and probably earn a good Arrow.

We were particularly taken with a bag of crystal beads that turn out to be clear, liquid plastic after they have been melted in a hot oven. Dump them into an aluminum pan or mold, let them melt, and then drop into the liquid plastic will harden into a clear matrix around your prize.

We haven't even mentioned the full lot of plastic models: ears without number, animals to assemble, educational kits like the human ear or eye which can teach as they entertain.

As with any new store, things we haven't even mentioned will be coming in right along, so drop by and look.

READY, BIDDERS?
Smith Club Invites You. The luck of the draw has given this year's Smith Club auction several large pieces of furniture which will undoubtedly appeal to anyone who likes to take down an old finish and rub the wood to a mellow gloss or bring new life to an upholstered piece with just the right fabric.

One of Smith's pieces this year is a large antique sideboard, English, in mahogany, splendidly scaled for a good-sized dining-room. Another large scale offering is an unusual mahogany chifferobe for a man. It's 54 inches tall and 48 inches wide, with five full-length chest drawers made of oak. A compartmented drawer, shirt-sleeve, goes along the top, and all are coped with a pair of mahogany doors.

PINK
Elephant
252 Nossou WA 1-7444

For a girl's room, consider a little lovelier, only 42 inches long, with two loose pillows at the back, curving little arms and mahogany legs. With a slip-cover, it would be a perfect additional place for a leg-year-old in use for dropping her clothes at the end of the day.

A Victorian couch in good condition, a three-part standing screen and an apartment-size gas stove, of all things, continue the list of Smith offerings. (That stove works, by the way.)

On the smaller side, Smith presents six eggid and blue Limoges plates, three large silver vases and a silver filigree liqueur set.

A Jensen pewter tea set will draw a bid or two, no doubt of that, and so will a working movie camera. There's a working set of golf clubs, too.

On the utilitarian side, a bicycle and a rucking horse will take care of at least two in your family, and the upwrit- of a third (it works, we're not sure how well it can spell).

By the time the auctioneer hangs his gavel on Saturday, other contributors will have sent things in, so the only way you can find out about everything is to attend the auction. Proceeds to scholarships, as you know.

BALL IS MOURNED

500 Students G. Ther. A funeral service for the Ball, the restaurant at 92 Nassau Street which has closed after four decades on the Princeton scene, was held Friday noon
by some 500 Princeton University undergraduates.

Assembling on the campus,
participants in the ceremony
proceeded to the 42-year-old restaurant, stopping Nassau Street traffic for five minutes while en route. About 350 of the students managed to squeeze into the Ball, which sold its last cup of coffee the following day.

Included in the procession
were ten pallbearers—cloaked
in black choir robes and a five-piece orchestra. Led by senior William Harman, the undergraduates spoke a funeral oration and sang appropriate songs.

Minographed copies of one of the tunes were distributed,
entreating the students to
"Sing praises to the Ball, for the Ball has passed on."
Poor Ball is dead, but there's no need to sigh. "So have hope friends and know the Ball has come to that great big restaurant in the sky."

The song also paid tribute to Marion Odycke of 222 Mather Avenue, Penns Neck, who has engaged a wide student following in the ten years in which she's been employed at the restaurant. One student commented that "Marion was like a mother away from home for me. I knew I always had someone to talk to if I wanted to."

Mrs. Odycke expressed similar affection. She said:
"These boys were part of my life. I've listened to their good times. You see them come in as fresh little kids and four years later they go out as grown up, mature gentlemen."

Also featured in the 20-minute service was a make-shift
funeral bier carrying a student with a bowl of oranges on his stomach. The undergraduate served as an "impersonation"
of the Ball.

A syndicate entitled The Boro Corporation formed by Edmund C. Cook and Company, the realty firm at 190 Nassau Street, has purchased the Ball building, 90 to 94 Nassau Street. According to Mr. Cook,
the Ball will be substantially remodeled and will be the site
of a mercantile business.

ATTEND PLANNING BOARD
Sallon Patterson Urges.
We'd like to hear what people have to say, pro and con,
in this matter of the University and the relocation of the Pennsylvania Railroad Station," said Mayor Henry Pattersen, at his weekly press conference, "and we hope for a large attendance at the Borough Planning Board meeting on Tuesday, February 5, when the University will present its plans."

Mayor Patterson said he hoped that both Borough and Township planning boards
would attack the road problem
in this part of town without delay because of the traffic congestion that may result
when College Road is closed off.

"It's quicker and easier to extend University Place to meet Faculty Road then it will be to straighten out Alexander Street," the Mayor commented. He said that, if University were extended, motorists from the western section
of town could go down University to Faculty and across Faculty to Washington on the

Commenting on the revenue loss to the Borough if the station were moved—about $3,000 in taxes—Mayor Patterson said he was encouraged by President Robert Goheen's remark that the whole question of Borough-University financial arrangements should be reviewed.

DOHM & KERR DAMAGED

By Tuesday Fire, Dohm & Kerr Motors, 140 University Place, a short distance from the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, was extensively damaged Tuesday afternoon by a fire caused when an exploding light bulb ignited gasoline fumes. There were no injuries but damages ran to thousands of dollars.

The fire was witnessed by an overflow crowd of University students as burning automobiles and a flaming tar roof sent clouds of smoke billowing skyward. A general alarm was turned in at 12:35; Fire Chief Samuel Davison reported the fire was brought under control a half-hour later. Firemen left the scene about 2.

The fire was triggered in violent fashion when a mechanic, checking a car for a leak in the gas tank, accidentally knocked a drop of light oil the hydraulic lift. As the electric light hit the floor, it exploded and sparks ignited gas fumes. Flames soon spread to the tar roof only a few feet away from the burning car. Later, a large section of the roof caved in at the height of the fire, which extensively damaged three cars.

The spectacular blaze brought to an end a lengthy fire-free period. Robert F. Mooney, assistant to Chief Davison, reported that the last time the volunteer firemen had "pulled hose" was April 27 for a small kitchen blaze in the Harrison Street Project.

THIEVES GET $14,000

From Pennington Market. Burglars blew open an office safe of the Pennington Market on Route 69 last week and escaped with $14,000.

Miss Ethel Olmstead of the Pennington-Lawrenceville Road, bookkeeper for the market, discovered the robbery early Sunday morning when she went to work on accounts. She said that the market was covered by insurance.

FIRST SINCE APRIL: The first fire of any consequences in nine months caused extensive damage to three cars and the garage of Dohm & Kerr Motors Tuesday. At left, veteran fireman Ralph Hult helps bring the smoky blaze under control. (Staff Photos)

Early investigation led State Trooper Albert Waldron of the Hopewell Township Station and State Police Detective Mario Paterna to feel that a quick solution to the crime was a growing possibility. They report having "a pretty good lead."

The market was entered by way of a window above a canopy that crosses in front of the building. It is owned by John Edward and Joseph McVeigh.

BOROUGH HEARING QUIET

Few Protesters Offered. A handful of taxpayers attended the Borough's public hearing on its $1,859,329 school budget for 1963-64. Two raised the question of spiraling costs.

"I don't know where the Board of Education expects to end up in this thing," said Charles W. Cornforth of 71 Westcott Road, an industrial relations man with Public Service.

On a per pupil basis, I notice that we will be paying $391 per Borough pupil. That's a 30 percent increase in three years at ten percent a year. I hope that the board next year will have cause to remember that this is heading too fast."

"You Raise Three . . ." Dr. Chester R. Stroup cited the difficulties in recruiting teachers during the past year and stated that the new salary scale starting at $3200 would bring Princeton up to comparable districts.

"I understand that New Jersey

is fourth in the nation in school salaries—and that Princeton is a leader in the state," said Orren Jack Turner of 39 Hamilton Avenue, portrait photographer. "So why should it be so difficult to recruit teachers here?"

Starting salaries for teachers with AB degrees, Board President Graham Rohrer said, is $4800 in Montclair and Marlinton, $4900 in South Orange and $5000 in Woodbridge.

"So you raise three, then they raise three," said Mr. Turner. "Aren't you starting a race?"

The salary schedule, Mr. Rohrer said, has an element of creating status which will eventually act as a deterrent. He noted that the 11 percent increase, described as fantastic by Mr. Cornforth, was largely due to the many long-tenured teachers on the staff.

The proposed salary is $5200 to $9000 for A. B. degrees; $5500 to $9500 for master's degrees; and $3600 to $10,000 for doctorates or approved study on a six-year level. Sixty percent of the increase is to be supplied in the coming school year.)

PLANNING MOTHERS' MARCH: The annual March of Dimes campaign will be held during the week beginning Monday. Completing plans for the drive are Donald A. "Public demands have gone up," Mr. Rohrer added. "The advanced programs and study plans developed in the past three years are the result of pressures from parents, the Conant Report, the Society for the Advancement of Science, and similar groups. It used to be that about 50 percent of our students went to college now it's over 70 percent. We've had to keep pace."

After the hearing, the board approved the budget, which will come up for public vote on February 13.

ARCHITECT CHOSEN

By Borough School Board. Ernest J. Kump of Palo Alto and New York City has been named architect for the Borough's $1,650,000 elementary school building. His appointment was approved at the Board of Education's meeting on Tuesday.

"Functionally and esthetically," said Graham Rohrer, board president, "we were after the very best school architect that could be had at a reasonable cost. With his long and distinguished career in school specialization, we believe Mr. Kump and his staff will make a distinctive contribution to the concept and function of the new school."

Mr. Kump has just designed a completely new college complex for Pine Manor Junior College in Wellesley, Mass. Other accomplishments include work done for the American University of Beirut in Syria, the entire complex of Foothill College, Los Angeles, and the U. S. embassy residence in Seoul, Korea, in addition to award-winning public elementary and second schools. Mr. Rohrer pointed out that Mr. Kump was a member of the panel in architecture at the Princeton University Bicentennial in 1947. "He will be personally involved in the design and follow-through of the school," he said. "We are proud to be able to bring his exciting talents to the service of the Princeton community."

20 Interviewed. About 20 architects were interviewed. Mr. Rohrer told TOWN TOPICS: The appointment carries with it a fee set by the state at six percent of the total cost of the building.

"Local architects, registered or in the phone book, were invited to make presentations," Mr. Rohrer said. Others contacted the school board. Still more from various parts of the nation were added on the advice of the editors of "Architectural Forum."

"Schools are special kinds of buildings," Mr. Rohrer said. "And with the many changes taking place in education, it is important to have somebody who is professionally up to date on these things. Geography has never been a consideration in this. I don't believe Princeton is that provincial."

Check Points. During the interviews, the architects made presentations, illustrated with pictures or slides. They were quizzed as to the size of the staff they maintained and the services they were able to provide.

"We were mostly interested in the size of their staffs and the diversity of their thinking. Some of these men are very tight in their thinking. Everything they do looks the same. Others go from extreme conservative to extreme modern."

They were judged on their ability to communicate "so that in the battle days that lie ahead, we can converse across the table." Financial responsibility was checked through banking explorations, suppliers, and school districts where they had built schools.

"You look for comments from the people they have done business with. You learn — Continued on Page 14

the amount of time an architect has spent on a case, the extent of his involvement. You check his experience record—did he bring the building in on target where price and time are concerned?

The architects were interviewed at the rate of two or three an evening. "Suddenly," Mr. Rohrer commented, "there comes a person and we have a unanimity of feeling. This man has the understanding, the staff of us are looking for."

HODGE ROAD WAS ICY

Accidents. Followed. Covered with a slick coating of ice, Hodge Road was the scene of a bizarre sequence of auto accidents early Friday morning. Between 4:45 and 6:05 a.m., no less than five accidents occurred on the curve near the intersection of Liberty Place.

William Parks, 45 R D 1, Pennington, started things off by skidding into a fire hydrant near Library Place, sending the hydrant lie. He was followed 35 minutes later by William Hemp of Philadelphia who skidded into the same hydrant.

And Hemp's car came to rest atop the hydrant and had to be lifted off by a wrecker. This time the hydrant was broken off at its base.

Thirty minutes later, David Purdy, 18, 301 R D 1, Pennington, driving east on Hodge, failed to make the sweeping turn at Library Place and skidded into the path of a car driven by Angelo A. Pirone, 40, 135 R D 1, Lang. The front of Mr. Purdy's car was damaged.

A scant five minutes later, the rear of Mr. Purdy's car, at the side of the road, was contacted when Mrs. Frances A. Libbey, 42, of 60 R D 1, Avenue, Hopewell, failed to negotiate the same curve and skidded on the ice.

Meet the Architect

Ernest J. Kump architect for the Borough's planned $1,650,000 elementary school, will discuss his philosophy and approach to school design at a special meeting called for Monday by the Borough P.T.A. The session will be held at 8 p.m. in the Nassau Street School.

Graham Rohrer, president of the Board of Education, will give a progress report on the new educational center. The P.T.A. urges all parents and interested residents to attend.

The cycle was completed ten minutes later as Miss Prudence Morgan, 17, 84 Elm Road, failed to make the same curve skidded and struck the left front of Mr. Pirone's car. Miss Morgan's car had to be towed away. The others were driven away by their owners.

Despite the man of mangled metal, no one was injured. Borough police issued no summonses.

Township Lists Six. As if not to be outdone by the Borough, the Township police reported six accidents the same day, four of them stemming from icy skids. As in the Borough, though some of the accidents were spectacular, no one was hurt.

Two of the more serious involved Kenneth Hendry, 27, 271 Hawthorne Avenue, and Miss Barbara Vaughn, 21, 126 North Ingomar Avenue, Trenton. Mr. Hendry told Township police he was driving on Princeton-Kingsford Road between 40-50 miles per hour early in the morning when he hit an icy spot and went into a skid.

His car crossed over the center line and struck a Public Service pole near Dodds Lane. The car was a total loss, police said.

Miss Vaughn, driving on Prospect Avenue Extension, at 10 a.m. morning, skidded, turned completely around, hit a mail box, and came to rest against a tree at Evergreen Circle.

On Sunday evening, Mrs. Julia Ball, 55, of Rocky Hill, driving on N. Harrison Street, failed to negotiate the turn onto Ewing. Township police said it was foggy and wet at the time.

Mrs. Ball's car jumped the curb and crashed into a tree on the lawn of Paul Tillet, 552 Ewing Street. A passenger in the car, Mrs. Mary Mullen, 52, of Franklin Park, sustained slight abrasions.

The Borough maintained its ratio with the Township with an accident of its own on Sunday. Donald Corvino, 18, 131 Jefferson Road, lost control of his car while driving on Nassau Street. He pulled to the left, jumped the curb, and traveled 57 feet before knocking down a "No Parking" sign. Then he pulled to the right, jumped the opposite curb, knocked down a street sign and struck a tree at the intersection of Cedar Lane.

Police issued Mr. Corvino a summons for careless driving. He was uninjured.

SERVICE AWARDS GIVEN. By Lawrence Jaycees, six awards for community service are being presented this week by the Lawrence Junior Chamber of Commerce, marking National Jaycee Week.

President James E. Crowley has announced the following recipients: TOWN TOPICS for journalistic achievement; Station WFOA-FM for excellent coverage of Lloyd A. Carver, mayor of Lawrence Township; Irving M. Johnston, Michael Stronkoff and Cole Elvington for support of the Lawrence Jaycees.

The Jaycees are also making cash contributions to three Lawrenceville fire companies. The Lawrence Rescue Squad and the Lawrence Police-men's Benevolent Association.

AUTHOR TO LECTURE At Jewish Center. Isaac B. Singer, an author of short stories, will lecture at the Jewish Center, Thursday, February 7, at 8:15 p.m. Mr. Singer, whose most recent book is entitled "The Spinoza of Market Street," has been awarded the Louis L. Brandeis Prize and a grant by the National Institute of Arts and Letters. A native of Poland, he has served on the staff of "The Jewish Daily Record" and several of his works have been translated into English. His lecture at the Center will be open to the public with tickets priced at $1. Participants in the "Workshop On Contemporary Jewish Writing" will attend the talk as part of their course.

RETURN TO CUBA SOON?
Freedom Fighter Talks Here.
A Cuban freedom fighter, here briefly last week, revealed the hope aroused by President Kennedy's Orange Bowl promise to return the brigade's flag in a free Havana.

"Most of the brigade believes this will be in six to eight months," he said. "I myself do not say this, but it is the opinion of most."

Guillermo Hernandez-Carlaya, a ransomed Bay of Pigs prisoner, was the guest of Dr. Roland T. Ely, Princeton resident, Rutgers professor and a sponsor of the Cuban Families Committee. A small man, 45 pounds lighter than when he joined Brigade 2506, Mr. Hernandez talked softly, deliberately and smiled often.

He summed up his own opinion this way: "An invasion like part I would say, would last now about 15 minutes." He informed that his fellow revolutionaries were waiting in the dark.

"We consider ourselves still under military orders," he added. "The Brigade belongs to the Cuban Revolutionary Council." The Refugee Council is headed by Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, former prime minister under Castro. His son slept beside by side with Hernandez in the Isle of Pines prison.

The future of the brigade? Some members will join the Cuban unit training in the U. S. Army under Spanish-speaking instructors; some will find jobs, and a few will be sent to Latin America on anti-propaganda tours which will probably be paid for by the U. S. Government through a front organization.

"We think that the most important thing is to erase communism in Cuba," Hernandez said, discussing the divergent interests which joined the invasion force in Guatemala in April 1961. "After we take care of that, then we take care of the Batistianos."

CIA Dollars Used. The Central Intelligence Agency, he said, planned the invasion and paid the bills. They told us that the underground in Cuba would help.

But a few days before the brigade landed, 200,000 men and women were rounded up and placed under guard in cattle pens, theatres and any public building. Among those captured was Mr. Hernandez' brother, in charge of organizing the underground in one whole province.

"We were five days on the ships going over from Nicaragua, piled high on top of all the guns and ammunition. We were told on the ships that we were to keep moving, to cut Cuba in two. There were about 2,000 or so of us," Mr. Hernandez was given six days' training in Guatemala before he was flown to Nicaragua. Some of the brigade had one day of training.

Invasion Disaster. "They were waiting for us when we landed. . . I wouldn't say a guerrilla had a chance, then or now. We ran out of ammunition, grenades, everything. We wouldn't have been able to equip the underground. We had 11 Cuban planes. Nine were shot down.

"The Castro planes even strafed us in the boats while we were waiting for orders to land. He had an iron ring around us. . . And their guns were better than ours. Our mortars had a range of six miles. Castro's artillery shot from 20 miles away."

A smile warmed his face. "One of my unit was captured by the militia near San Blas and they ask him 'how many men are with you?' He says 'Ten thousand,' and so the mayor of San Blas shows up with a white flag—he wants to surrender his town. Then he sees how few we are, so he goes back."

He described the surrender of his 200-man unit after three days of fighting. "The ammunition was gone. We had no real food since we left Nicaragua. There was this feeling of dis-

Mental Torture Inflicted. Mr. Hernandez was imprisoned first in Havana's Principe prison and then on the Isle of Pines. "They did not torture us physically, you know, but in the mind. You never know what's going to happen next. One day in Principe they read a list of names and say these are to be released. So people start to give messages to their families. And I tell them, 'Say, listen, nobody's being released.'"

A friend of the Castro family, Mr. Hernandez served the underground fighting Batista in Havana while Castro was in the hills. Later, as the Castro government turned communist, he was an organizer of the anti-Castro Movement for the Recovery of the Revolution, serving the MRR as treasurer and fund-raiser.

"The first anti-communist meeting in Cuba was held on February 24, 1960, on Castro's farm, behind his big. Raul was away, too, but Ramon was there and the two sisters. We left before Fidel returned."

He went to the wedding of Fidel's sister, Enma. "Fidel was to be the best man and the wedding was to be in the cathedral. Then Fidel telephoned and said he would not go into a church. So they find another best man. In the middle of the ceremony, in walks Fidel with his machine gun. With him are about 40 of his men, with machine guns. Nobody knows what will happen. They look around and then just sit down."

Mr. Hernandez, a director of a private bank in Havana serving sugar growers, fled to Miami in June 1960. With him were his wife, an Olympic swimmer in 1932, and a daughter, Virginia, now 6. A second daughter, Anna Maria, now 5, is still with his mother in a village near Havana. His father, an attorney and owner of a 3,000-acre cattle ranch in northern Cuba, lives in Miami and serves as one of the seven leaders of the Cuban Families Committee which has cared for the wives and children of the brigade.

Mrs. Hernandez' own future is uncertain. He was credit manager of a Philadelphia-area asphalt company at a high salary before he joined the brigade. Yet he is deeply committed to the "free Cuba" movement.

"When they take us in buses from the prison to San Antonio Airport, the people of the streets came up to us to cheer us. 'Come back and free Cuba,' they say. They said it even with the militia standing around."

MUSIC

In Princeton

TO EXPLORE HERITAGE

In Seminary Concert. A musical program whose component parts will depict the major themes in the heritage of Christian church music will be presented in McCarter Theatre on Wednesday, February 6, at 8:30 as part of Princeton Theological Seminary's sesquicentennial observance.

Nicholas Harsanyi will direct 34 members of the Philadelphia Orchestra and the Westminster Symphony Choir in works by Bach, Bloch and Haydn. Soloists will be Janice Harsanyi, soprano; Florence Kopleff, contralto; Blake Stern, tenor, and Herbert Beattie, bass.

The program will consist of "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" from Bach's Cantata No. 174, the Concerto Grosso No. 1 of Bloch and Haydn's Mass in B Flat Major, the "Theresa".

With these three compositions, presenting strains from the Jewish, Catholic and Pro-

SOLOIST: William Masselos, the Princeton concert pianist, will be heard in the Grieg Piano Concerto when the Princeton Symphony Orchestra plays in McCarter Theatre Monday night. The program will also include Schubert's Overture to "Rosamunde". Haydn's Symphony No. 46 in D and a new work for soprano and orchestra by John Harbison.

stant traditions, the concert is designed, in the words of the Seminary, "to challenge both ourselves and our fellow churchmen to a renewal of our interest and support for the finest in music."

Tickets at $3.50 and $5 (patron, $25, including two orchestra seats) may be purchased at the Sesquicentennial Office, Princeton Seminary, either by mail or in person.

GINA BACHAUER HEARD Plays at McCarter. On Monday evening at McCarter Theatre, the third concert in Series II of the Princeton University Concerts presented the Greek pianist Gina Bachauer. The strenuous, if conventional, program included Beethoven's arrangement of the Bach G major Toccata, Haydn's E minor Sonata, and Beethoven's "Waldstein," followed after the interval by the Chopin F minor Fantasia, Bartok's Suite Op. 14, and Ravel's "Gaspard de la Nuit."

Surprisingly, in view of the nature of the program and the expectations it aroused, one's most favorable impressions of Mme. Bachauer's playing relate to effects of delicacy and repose. One wonders, in fact, whether this pianist is wise to set herself such Herculean tasks, if it frequently seemed that the all-out physical effort required for the dynamic chmaxes and major technical hurdles left little room for continuing attention to such matters as overall line and shape.

Some of these problems may have related to the instrument, which, although not our notorious old friend, could not be said to represent an improvement, for the most part, it spoke clearly although perhaps in the repeated D-sharps of Ravel's "Scarbo" there was some hesitation, but when pressed for volume, especially in the upper registers, there was mostly clatter in the tone.

This loss of tonal allure in climaxes, combined with the pianist's lessened flexibility at points of technical stress, was certainly partly responsible for the structural imbalance in, for example, the Rondo of the "Waldstein" Sonata. The problem was certainly compounded by the broadening of tempo in the episodes (apparently for technical reasons) which gave them more weight than the theme — not were these articulations made more convincing by being made at the beginning of the retractions, i.e., when the notes thinned out rather than at the ends.

Structure Obscured. To avoid misunderstanding, it should perhaps be made clear that it is not tempo changes within a movement, per se, to which objection is taken, but the effect of such articulations when they unbalance or obscure the structure — or when they are made for no apparent musical reason at all. A successful explication of the "Waldstein" in the fairly straightforward and conventional manner towards which Mme. Bachauer seemed to be working certainly requires the ability to deploy equivalent technical resources with still greater ease over a wider range of power than she can easily make, without this ability, the interpretation is undermined by the musical problems arising from mechanical difficulties.

Another musical problem, perhaps not unrelated, may be noted if not admired a distinct tendency to rush the more commonplace varieties of passagework. It is difficult, too, to understand the value of rhythmic distortion when introduced so early in a piece that the metrical context is not yet clear (as in the first measure of the slow movement of the Beethoven).

In every respect, the most satisfactory part of the evening was the Ravel "Gaspard de la Nuit" — especially "Le Gibet," where even the tricky cross-rhythm came through cleanly. In general, this was a compromise between the lithograph and water-color versions of the "Gaspard," with enough of the desirable characteristics of both to satisfy all but the most critical.

As encores, Mme. Bachauer played Frederico Mompalao's "Jeunes filles au jardin," and "The Great Gate at Kiev," from Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition," which was exactly what the piano deserved.

IT SOUNDS WONDERFUL—BUT sevin' is believin' in the opinion of Mrs. Carl Perutz (right) concerning President Kennedy's proposed $13.5 billion tax cut. Mrs. Paul Nagy feels, like many, perhaps, that it is about time. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of the $13.5 billion tax cut proposed by President Kennedy?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Mrs. Paul Nagy, 67 Jefferson Road, housewife: I think it is a very good idea. I feel it is about time the government started thinking about the smaller taxpayers. It sends so money and aid to everyone else.

Mrs. Carl Perutz, Main Street, Windsor, housewife: If he does it, it will be fine—if he does it. That's the thing. I'd like to see it first before I get my hopes up.

Mrs. Bradford Mills, Pretty Brook Road, housewife: I think it is a good thing, provided it is accompanied by economies in government spending.

Malcolm MacDonald, Princeton Junction, editor, Van Nostrand Co.: I think President Kennedy is trying to make a big splash with a program that means very little to the "average man." People in the lower and middle income groups are not going to benefit. According to Merrill Mueller, a news commentator, it will actually cause a rise in the taxes of those in the lower and middle income ranges.

Mrs. C. Wayne Bills, Lakeside Apartments, housewife: I think it would be good for the individual, but I don't know if the government, with all its spending, can absorb that much less income and still provide us with good government.

Sherley W. Morgan, 145 Hodge Road, architect: He should have done it two years ago. Better late than never.

Clayton M. Hall, 27 Boudinot Street, retired Rutgers University professor: It won't wash for this reason: These birds that are buzzing around President Kennedy, his corps of advisors, are extremely cagey about not mentioning what these loopholes are which they are going to plug and just what is involved in this alleged broad base tax reform. They aren't talking.

Robert Fink, 55 Patten Avenue, Clarendon Heights, 20 Nassau Street, graphic artist: I just put me down for "great."

Mrs. Eve Hanley, Levittown, Pa., editor, Princeton University Press: It's nice but I do think it has to be accompanied by a cut in governmental spending.

Edwin Taylor, Lakeside Apartments, assistant professor, Princeton University: I personally think it is a good idea. I think the only real justification for it is if it will stir business in such a way that we will ultimately get more revenue than we would have otherwise. The second reason, and it is a very important one, is that it is coupled with reform in that people's attitudes toward taxation will not be as cynical.

Miss Virginia Chaplin, 15 Murray Place, editor for Learning Center, Barn Street: I am not an expert and I don't know what the economists would say, but I feel if the cut is truly going to help the government spur the economy, then I am for it. I am not opposed to a tax cut in principle.

John Duffy, Trenton, radio chemist for Princeton University: I do not like it simply because it is not an honest approach to the problem. He is going to cut taxes yet take away more money at the same time from people who can least afford it through broad base tax reform. This is an old dodge — to take money away from the lower income people, the ones who usually don't know or read much about taxes. For example, the poor can ill-afford ill health and yet if a man is off and he gets sick pay, the government wants to tax this now. I don't think that is right. We are becoming a nation of small home owners and by proposing a larger tax on mortgages, the government again, in my opinion, is trying to eliminate the middle class. We are carrying a huge national debt and it keeps increasing, and something should be done, but the most important factor in the whole thing is the dishonest attempt of the government to say they are giving us something when they actually aren't.

Sanford Zeller, Campbell Hall, Princeton University Class of 1965: I think it is sound fiscally. I just had an economics course and everything the President said is in agreement with the course. I definitely think it will improve the economy, especially the gross national product and that is what they are trying to increase. I think it will get through Congress but probably more likely as a ten billion cut. I strongly doubt the Congress doing anything wholly that he wants.

Mrs. Bertha Smith, Langhorne, Pa., housewife: I'm no politician and I don't know much about taxes but I'm certainly for any tax reduction. I can say that. But I wonder how is the country going to make up all this money.

Richard Kubiak, Mercerville, salesman: It would be fine if they would cut some of the foreign aid which amounts to an excessive giving away of too much money and not getting anything in return, in a lot of instances. It's a big give away and we're not getting our money's worth. The tax cut proposed by Kennedy should put some more money into the hands of the people who will do the actual spending.

Roger McManis, Trenton, retired assistant to the chief engineer of the University power plant: I think it's something for some people and it might stir the economy somewhat but it won't affect me in the least—I'm already on pension.

Questions Asked.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the last few months the Princeton community has witnessed a most peculiar succession of events.

Shortly after the last election, the University announced its plan to build an office building at the corner of University Place and College Road and requested approval from the Borough officials. When the Planning Board turned down this request (since this office building would violate the zoning ordinance) Mr. Robert Goheen, President of Princeton University, was indignant and publicly reprimanded the Planning Board for its refusal in effect he demanded reconsideration.

At this point Mayor Patterson announced that he thought the Planning Board should reconsider, and reconsider they did. The office building was forthwith approved by the Planning Board and finally by the Borough Council—but with certain restrictions. Again Mr. Goheen rapped the knuckles of the Borough officials and demanded that these restrictions be removed.

Meanwhile, the University and Seminary had announced the imminent sale of a controlling interest of their stock in the Princeton Water Company to the Elizabethtown Water Company, of which the Mayor of the Borough, Mr. Henry Patterson, is executive vice-president.

During the ensuing debate over the propriety of this sale, the obvious conflict of interest Mr. Patterson will suffer as mayor and as an officer of the Elizabethtown Water Company was emphasized. To complicate matters further, Mr. Patterson has just been elected to the Board of Directors of the Princeton Water Company.

The extraordinary coincidence of these events brings up certain questions:

1 Why did some of the members of the Borough Planning Board immediately reverse themselves after being publicly chastised by Mr. Goheen?

2 Why did the University decide to sell its stock to the Elizabethtown Water Company (rather than to the other utility bidder) since it was obvious that questions concerning Mr. Patterson's conflict of interest would arise?

3 Will Mr. Patterson resign his office as mayor of the Borough if and when the sale of the Princeton Water Company is approved by the Public Utilities Commission?

As an interested citizen of this community, I suggest that Mr. Goheen and Mr. Patterson publicly answer these questions.

which appeared on the leaflet sent us with announcements of this year's Series I Concerts at McCarter.

"It is always something of a miracle when a child prodigy's musical gifts survive and mature: he survived the prodigious phrase and matured into one of the great figures of the present musical scene. In the United States, he has appeared with all the major orchestras, playing with the Boston seven times in a single season. His foreign tours have covered Europe, the Soviet Union, Australia, Africa and India. Whatever works he plays on his 1734 Gauricus del Gesù are like to be in the words of the New York Times, so near to perfection and so compelling that their like will probably not be heard again very soon in these parts."

What is it that makes these orchestras around the world engage Mr. Ricci's services, if he is as poor as your critic pictures him? Is he good enough for the rest of the world but not for Princeton?

The McCarter audience loved him and showed their appreciation in no uncertain terms. Everyone I have talked with, who attended the concert, was captivated and profuse in their praise for this musical treat.

It is noted that nothing—I repeat, nothing—pleases your critic except possibly some modern pieces of writing although not, in this case, Handel or Prokofiev. Negative criticism even of Mr. Lorin Maazel, when the audience at McCarter rose to its feet in tribute—something that to my knowledge has never happened at McCarter, not even for our beloved Mr. Szell and the Cleveland Orchestra?

We who attend the concerts are delighted with the fare selected, almost always. Does your critic perhaps suffer from a jaded musical appetite, or is his musical degree so new

Facts On John Hart Wanted.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Somewhere in Princeton there is a house (or maybe houses) where John Hart
reportedly stayed during the Revolution at various times
during his attendance at Council of Safety meetings. I have been unable to track this down
and would greatly appreciate your help. The information is desirable for the biography of Hart that I am writing.

It is also possible that some collectors of manuscripts or Revolutionary memorabilia
may have something of importance pertaining to Hart.
If this should be the case, I would more than appreciate having such information. Hart is such an obscure individual that even the smallest bit of

can contribute greatly to his biography, which has not pre-

BANK ELECTIONS COSEY
To Succeed Cook: William R. Cosby has been elected president of Princeton Bank and Trust, succeeding George R. Cook, III, who has been elected chairman of the board. Mr. Cook has been president for the past ten years.

The action was announced this week at the annual meeting of the stockholders held on Tuesday. At this meeting, Dr. Coleman and Dr. Cook were elected to a directorship and 12 directors were re-elected.

Stockholders approved an increase in the capital stock of the bank from $400,000 to $500,000 through the issuance of rights allowing stockholders to buy one new share of stock at $40 for each 10 shares owned.

Proceeds will amount to $300,000 of which $24,000 will be added to capital and $256,000 to surplus. Total capital funds of the bank, including undistributed profits, will then amount to more than $3,500,000.

In his annual report to the stockholders, Mr. Cook reported a 115 percent increase in deposits during the decade from December 31, 1952, to 1962.

The number of accounts increased by 179 percent, earnings-per-share by 177 percent and dividends-per-share by 133 percent. Mr. Cook said that for the 10th consecutive year, Mr. Cook reported, bank deposits were the highest in history, amounting to $42,430,431, or 12 percent over 1961. Net earnings for the bank were at all time high of $337,161, or $4.01 per share. The price

Mr. Cosby, the bank's new president, began his banking career in 1954 after graduation from Princeton. He was associated with the National City Bank of New York until he entered the Navy in 1942, and after the war he joined the Provident Tradesmen's Bank and Trust Company of Philadelphia, remaining there until 1961. In December of that year, he became assistant to the president of Princeton Bank and Trust. He lives with his wife and son at 230 Brookstone Drive.

Dr. Donaldson is a 1942 graduate of Princeton Polytechnic Institute, and is president of Aeronautical Research Associates, Inc., of Princeton, a company which he formed in 1954. He is a consultant to several agencies and firms dealing with aeronautical engineering and is the author of numerous papers on aerodynamics. He is general editor of Princeton University's 12-volume series on high-speed aerodynamics and jet propulsion.

SOLVENCY BEGAINED

By General Devices, General Devices, Inc., announced this week that it has regained its status as a solvent business enterprise. The U.S. District Court of Trenton has discharged the firm's receiver and has returned the company's assets as well as responsibility for management and operation.

The three leasing quarters in 1962, the officers reported that a profit was shown in the first three months, enabling the firm to repay its creditors in accord with a pre-arranged plan. The officers directed the loyalty of employees and customers as the principal factor in assuring the return to solvency.

As a result of the firm's ability to obtain new financing by virtue of its last quarter profit, together with the sale and leaseback of its real estate holdings, GDI was provided with sufficient funds to release itself from receivership. The real estate was sold to Robert Bauer of Roselle Park, who has leased 13,500 of the 34,000 square feet to GDI for five years.

MIDDLESEX NAMED

A Broker Representative, Middlesex Realty Company of 240 Nassau Street has been appointed the area representative of the National Real Estate Brokers' Council, a coast-to-coast referral organization.

New residents in the Princeton community will be referred to the national association to Middlesex Realty. The council is limited to one broker in each community it serves.

A member of the Mercer and Middlesex County Boards of Realtors, the firm has its main office in North Brunswick. The company also holds membership in the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers and Realtors, the International Traders Club and the American Society of Appraisers.

In the first half with a snake twist defined the team's second and best scoring threat, but Hyland was off form earlier this season against Yale and Bill Harlow was cold again after running a slow Columbia defender into the ground the night before.

In shattering both Princeton's all-time free-throw and total-point records, see how Bradley gave his best performance of a career that is already on the way to becoming fabulous. With a 27.3 scoring average, he ranks third nationally in a point-percentage nation, and seems certain to top all comers in foul shooting percentages. He was seven for eight at Columbia, running his consecutive string to 29 to better Pete Campbell's old record of 28 before the lone miss; he was a fantastic 21 for 21 at Ithaca and now has a foul-shooting percentage of .891. In the one-sided triumph over the Lions, he threw in 30 points in 32 minutes before being withdrawn from action.

There's No One Else. But in addition to rewriting the record books, Bradley's great performance against Cornell served also to stress the imbalance that has saddled the Tigers with a 2-3 record and a back-to-the-wall position in the Ivy league. Invariably ready to pass off if a teammate has an opening, Bradley needs only one player who can hit consistently with him. To date, the lack of that consistency has meant the difference between victory and defeat against Yale and Cornell — the difference between a 2-3 and a 4-1 record.

At Ithaca, Hyland made six points before injuring his ankle. Harlow was held to six on the evening and sophomore Don Roth, who has come along well to bag the fifth starting position, made it into double figures with 10. But the complete tale of the figures was that Bradley scored 53% of the Tigers' total: 27% more than the next high man; and seven points more than the rest of the team combined. Because a Cornell team which is unlikely to finish better than fourth produced four players who averaged better than 14 points among them, victory went the other way.

COLUMBIA OVERPOWERED

By 50-Point First Half. A surprising Columbia quintet which had won on the road from Harvard and Dartmouth while Cornell was losing to the same opponents 24 hours later never got started in its own gymnasium against Princeton last Friday. The Tigers moved out quickly to leads of 8-0, 17-6, 32-17 and went on to pour in 50 points in the first 20 minutes.

From their 50-35 advantage at the intermission, the victors rolled steadily to margins ranging from 20 to 25 points, settling for an eventual 86-63 decision. Harlow's career high of 25 points supplemented Bradley's 30-point output beautifully, while Hyland clapped in with 18. Roth marked his first starting assignment by picking off ten rebounds. Columbia shuttled 12 players in and out of the action to little avail, using a man-to-man defense which could not stick with the faster Princetonians. The Tigers finished with a fine 53% floor average, and were somewhat above that in the decisive first half.

Cornell Surge Wins. Despite Hyland's absence in the final minutes of the first half at Ithaca, Princeton left the floor trailing by only one (33-32). The visitors had a six-point bulge as the clock began to run out, but could not contain the push shots of Captain Jerry Zachara (25 for the evening, including 11 field goals) and the close-in work of 6-7 Jerry Krambein, who hit for 15.

Despite Bradley's occasional field goals and steady parade to the foul line, the Tigers' ball and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth Valiant Car Care Schedules;

HELP WANTED

For Tigers' Bill Bradley. With the climactic games in the 1963 Ivy basketball race just ahead, the word on Princeton around the rest of the league is: "You can't stop Bradley, but he doesn't get steady enough help from anyone else to make them a consistent winner."

The label "One-Man Team" that the Tigers and Coach Bill van Breda Kolf have been seeking to avoid all season was pinned on them hard at Ithaca last weekend when the superb half of Princeton's points in a fine effort to keep better balanced Cornell within range Captain Art Hyland's loss early times in the closing minutes.

Princeton paring this as it was four in the final seconds
but never standing even an outside chance of victory against a good Cornell force and accurate foul shooting (15
of 16).

Tigers Need Them All. Having lost as many games (three)
as they are likely to finish first
can afford, Princeton is now confronted with the problem
of winning in a row in order
to have a shot at the title.
Even if they do, the Tigers
must look for Penn and Yale
to stumble somewhere so that both of these contenders will be no better than 11-3 when the season ends.

Basketball talk—and there is a great deal of it around Princeton these days as Bradley and van Breda Kolff color
up the scene—tends to talk heavily in terms of sophomores Chuck Berling, who is expected to attain academic eligibility in time for the Tigers' next game—with Penn on February 2. He averaged better than 20 points as a team
leader of Bradley's last winter,
and showed a fine outside shot.
Whether a player who is born a moment of variety action can provide the points which will reverse the losses to Penn, Yale and Cornell remains to be seen. If he does, it will rank as something of a minor miracle, because if the Tigers' imbalance
in date continues, it will show
them severely in the familiar hole of wait-till-next-
year.

SCORING THRUST GONE
As Skaters Lose Two More.
Two goals in two games—one on a six-man power play with 24 seconds left and the other on something of a fluke—represented the total output of Princeton's unhappy hockey forces last week. Net result: a pair of 3-1 defeats at the hands of the St. Nick's and Cornell, and a season's record at the exam break of two victories in 14 games.

Playing at a low tempo, the collection of former collegians
now wearing green and white
for the St. Nicholas Club methodically banded in one goal per period. When the victors picked up a penalty in the final minute, Coach Norm
Wood pulled goalie Bill Hill,
and Brett Mackridge scored on a blue-line set up by George Peterson. Princeton
alumni playing for the visitors
include goalie Barry van Gerbig, '61, Pete Call, '54, Tom Cornwall, '61 and Gary Hill,
an Miller, captain in 1958.

Cornell Game Close. It was not until 1:52 P. of the second period that Cornell scored its first goal, Princeton driving even again with a minute left in the round when Dan Wed-den halted the puck into the crease from just outside the crease. Johnny Cook drew an assist to come within nine points of setting a new Princeton career record.

That was all the Tigers could muster, however, the ill-fated
line goalie, Laing Kennedy,
making 26 saves including several against one and two-man breaks. That had him at a major disadvantage. Cornell's winning goal came with six minutes left and it was regrettably symbolic of the afternoon that it was set up by a Princeton teamman who fell down on while skating backwards.

Hill was withdrawn with 90 seconds to go, but the goal that resulted was the Ithaca one that was generally commendable,
but the number of clearing passes placed on Cornell sticks and the inability to sustain an attack because players were out of position, and the total lack of depth on the undermanned Princeton squad made it another frustrating afternoon for the Baker Rink faithful.

THIS COMES HOME

The Princeton High School
basketball team has not played at home since its opener on December 14. After a highly successful road trip, the Little Tigers will return home this week for a pair of contests
against Ewing and Hamilton.

Princeton at Yale

PIS will oppose Ewing Friday evening at 8 and Hamilton
Tuesday afternoon at 3:30.
Both are Group A high school
and, though each has had its share of defeats this year, both are capable of stopping the Blue and White, which has gotten off winning by winning six of its first seven contests
and has a 10-0 record in Mercer County and this makes it more interesting," said PIS
coach Tony Borzok.

The Little Tigers' sixth victory—a 63-56 overtime thriller
against Bridgewater-Vari-
ton High School Friday evening—
was not for the faint of heart.
"Anybody with a weak heart
would have been carried out,"
said Jaycee coach George Pov-lanski, who led his own team
dropped a close, hard-fought 60-57 decision to the Bridgewater squad. "It really drains you," added Borzok.
"You try to look at things rather calmly, to be respectable, but oh man, it's a war."

It is not hard to see what kept Tony on the edge of his seat. Consider these developments. Off to a poor start, PIS fell behind 13-6 at the first period and trailed by six at the half. After a free-wheeling third quarter in which the lead changed hands nine times, the visiting Blue and White emerged
with a hairline margin, 37-36.

With three minutes to go,
PIS led by four, but Bridgewater soon tied it at 48-48. At the end of regulation time it was 51-51, the home team having knotted the score again
with two seconds to play.

Entering into a three-minute overtime, Bridgewater pulled to a four-point lead with 1:50
to go. "It looked like school was out for us then," Borzok commented. Then, incredibly, PIS scored ten goals in those final 90 seconds. "That's how quickly the game goes,"
added Borzok.

The point-by-point winning surge went like this: A foul shot by captain Hank Schmidt
and a pair by Larry Madden.
Madden again under the barnet on a lead pass from Tom Waters, to tie the score; two clutch free throws by John Kowalski on a one-and-one situation, which Borzok labeled the key play that "turned the game around"; and a three-point play by Schmidt at the buzzer on a fast break set up by Kowalski's court-long pass.

"You'd think after being ahead and being tied in the final seconds and then falling behind by four in overtime our team would have faded," said Borzok. "Instead, just the opposite happened. To come back like that, that was the thing

way," added the happy Borzok.

Won't Forget. The kids will never be able to forget that ball game," Borzok continued.
The students and the faculty members hugged them and picked them right off the floor.
It means a lot to know you have that kind of spirit behind
you."

Schmidt led all scorers with a sparkling 27-point performance, his best of the season.
Kowalski, whom Borzok described as "fabulous under the boards," PIS outbounded his taller opponent, 17-7 and scored 14 points for his high mark of the year and steady
Larry Madden added 14 more.
Together, the trio accounted for all but six points. Schmidt and Kowalski each hit for six points in Princeton's go-ahead
third period.

The performance of Tom Waters also drew plaudits
from Borzok. "Tom is tall and aggressive and he's trimming
out. Before he was on the heavy side, but now he's displaying more coordination,"
said Borzok. "He shows me a little more brash, I think I thought I had." Waters played half the game.

In retrospect, though Tony called Princeton's win a team effort, he can rightfully include himself. "The week before, in a dense fog, he and Povlanski "better to have four eyes than two" drove to Bridgewater to scout the Falcons. "We took our life in our hands, it took us 20 minutes to get from the high school to Route 206. We learned something though so I guess it paid off." In a game of inches,
it did.

BRITISH TEAM HERE
For N. J. Squash Tourney, Play has begun in the New Jersey State Squash Tournament at the Pretty Brook Tennis Club. The final will be held at 2:30 on Saturday afternoon.

Among the participants are eight British squash players, members of the Wolfe-Noel Cup touring team. Their hosts during a six-day stay here are Mr. and Mrs. Wats S. Humphrey of 63 Cleveland Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Martin, 132 Elm Road, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. McMorris, 90 Bayard Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morehouse, 65 Allis Road.

Mrs. W. Pepper Constable, five-time U. S. women's squash champion, is chairman of the hospitality committee, assisted by Mrs. David Frothingham and Mrs. David Stokton. The British visitors will be entertained by President and Mrs. Robert F. Cohen, Governor and Mrs. Richard Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding, Jr., and the board of governors of the Pretty Brook Tennis Club.

The Wolfe-Noel Cup matches are scheduled for February 16 in Philadelphia. Begun in 1935 and interrupted by World War II, the score now stands at 9 for Great Britain and 10 for the United States.

HUN SCHOOL RESTS
For Mid-Term Exams, Edged 42-41 by Solisbury on Saturday, the Hun School basketball team must wait 11 days before trying again to gain its second victory of the season. Following the hiatus for mid-term examinations, the Red and Black will take to the road to meet Moorestown Friends on Wednesday.

If Hun is to remain a serious contender in the Penn-Jersey League, it must concentrate on scoring more points than it has in its first five outings. So far, Hun has averaged just 46 points per game. This scanty output has held the Red and Black to a 1-4 league record and 1-4 overall.

Defensive lapses cost Hun the Solisbury contest. With the lead changing hands in the final period, Hun coach Bob Simpson reported "when the heat was on, a couple of our boys went to sleep at the wrong time and let Solisbury get around them for easy lay-ups." The teams were tied 20-20 at the half.

Scott Page and co-captain Alex Langel, the only Hun players to hit double figures, led the attack for the visitors. All was not black for the visitors, however, as the Hun Jayvee team won its second contest in as many tries, defeating the Solisbury Jayvee squad in double overtime. The score was 42-20.

CHESEBRO ELECTED
As Bowling President, Dr. Paul R. Chesebro, headmaster of the Hun School, has been elected president of the Schoolboy Bowling Association of America.

Dr. Chesebro announced that the Schoolboy Regatta will be held at Lake Carnegie on May 24-25. The headmaster will serve a term of one year, will preside over the opening event as well as the association's next meeting, which will take place at the same time.

SWIMMERS UNDEFEATED
Narrow Victory For Larries, The Lawrenceville School swim team remained undefeated by the margin of its slim 50-45 victory over Mercersburg Academy on Saturday. Bryan Connors came from behind on the anchor leg of the freestyle relay to hand the home team its first loss.

The visitors took seven individual first places with record-holder Phil Riker and captain Russ Klingery capturing two apiece. Riker, swimming won the 200-yard and 100-yard freestyles in 1:54.3 and 0:52. Klingery took first in the individual medley with a 2:14.8 and in the 100-yard backstroke in 1:00.3.

With a 35-40 victory over the Princeton University freshmen earlier in the week, the Pencils, 205 and 200 Pennell added a 189 to his two 200-plus scores for the top series of 397.

"A" League Ends First Half, Conner & Schaffer won two of three games to finish the first half of the "A" League season in first place with 72 points. Grover Lumber was in the second spot, 14 points off the pace and four in front of Yeoman's. Six points separated the remainder of the league.

The standings: Princeton Inn, 48; Knights of Columbus, 46; Community Liquor and Aversano Construction, 44 apiece; and Decker's Dairy, 42. Jim Brogan rolled a 219 to take single-game honors by five pins over Hal Frazer. The only over 200-plus scores were by Frank Delnesso, 207, and Larry Golden, 201. Sheldon Zabel had a 199.

ADDS BENCH STRENGTH
Princeton High School basketball coach Tony Borzok has reported that the continuously improving ability of 6-3 Tom Waters has added much-needed bench strength to the Little Tigers.

Red and Black is now 6-0 on the year. Despite two records by John Kalmbach, the captain of the Princeton freshmen, the visitors received a decisive win, taking seven of 11 first places. Their next opponent will be the Ivesford School on Saturday, February 2.

The school's basketball team suffered its second loss in several contests Saturday as St. Benedict's easily defeated the visitors, 77-60. Mark Haley and Mike San Phillip were the top point men for Lawrenceville with 20 and 17 respectively.

On Wednesday, the Larries found their home court more to their liking and defeated Pennington, 71-49. Haley again paced the attack, this time with 22 points. It was the first loss for the visitors who have six victories to their credit.

Winless in its first seven starts, the Larries' hockey team surprised just about everybody with a 2-1 overtime defeat of Woonsocket High on Saturday. Brian Laddy accounted for the winning goal with just seconds remaining in the sudden-death overtime.

The skaters preceded their victory with a 4-3 overtime loss to Chatham High. Their next game is scheduled for Wednesday against the Mill School at Pointstown.

THORNE'S TIE LEADERS
In Girl's Basketball League, The Thorne Pharmacy girls basketball team defeated the All Americans Thursday evening at the Hamilton High West gymnasium, 57-27. The victory, its fifth in seven contests, enabled Thorne's to tie the All Americans for first place in the four-team Hamilton Township League.

The victors were led by the 36-point performance of Pat Hibbs and Janet Woodburn, who scored 18 apiece. Princeton girls on the Thorne roster include Marian Fugill, Gail Peacock, Pat Brown, Pat Woodring, Helen Maddock, Bea Baker, Kathy Pallaci and Pat Dawning.

Other members of the league are the Warriors and the St. Francis Nurses. The four teams compete each Thursday evening at the Hamilton West gym. Games start at 7:15 and 8:30.

DAILY INTEREST
makes the difference!

How is interest figured on your savings account? The method can be more important than the rate. Study this chart. Why this tremendous difference in interest over just one quarterly period? Because, when your savings earn DAILY INTEREST, they earn interest from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal—not just on the low balance during the calendar quarter. And, at First Trenton, 3% interest is compounded every three months. This interest then starts earning DAILY INTEREST, too!

Cities Route 206 Hazard

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Regarding the accident which occurred last Monday close to the airport on Route 206, I want to ask whether the Highway Department has inspected the location and intends to remedy a rather dangerous situation there. I read in TOWN TOPICS that the party involved stated a deer was the actual cause which led them astray on the road but I, who passed the spot close to after the accident happened, and saw the ambulance, the police and the car hanging in the telegraph pole, was curious what might have caused it.
Driving the next morning on the same road, I noticed that a small brook coming from the end of the airfield forms a deep ditch just there, and the soft shoulder is extremely narrow. The slightest swaying of the car could easily result in a slip must land you in the ditch I suggest that the state should remedy this situation, ready there should be extended, and the soft shoulder widened.

I take the occasion to suggest also that a blinker be put up at the point where Ewing Street enters Route 206. Few cars keep the speed limit in this area, most cars pass it on the right side where I have stopped to make the left turn into Ewing.

Sparks In Princeton

In "B" League action, Walker Gordon took the lead in the first week of the second half of the season's play with a ten-point total, two up on Edwards. There was a four-way tie for third with Sportsman Number One, Maul Electric, James Kleener and Sportsman Number Two each totalling six points.

Milton Shinn had the top single game a 236, and Bill Penell bowled the top series with a 190-190-212-206 set in the first round. The series were recorded by Jake Bartolino, 219 and 214; Frank Maddison, 222; Dick Edwards, 222; Wilton Rose, 215; Bill Buthe, 214 and Nick Cifelli.

NASSAU PHUMPHS #9-85

Over Ocean Triangles, Sannino A. C. defeated the Ocean Triangles, leaders in the New Jersey State League, Thursday evening, 80 to 65, at the Princeton High School gymnasium. The victory was Sannino's 11th in 12 contests and was witnessed by some 300 fans.

The best-breaking Triangles, led by Dorset Wilkins and coach Sherman White, defeated All-American from Long Island University, pulled to a 32-23 first period lead with Walt Muehner controlling the action. Backward in the third period, Sannino tightened its defense and with the help of some fine outplays, closed the visitors' margin to 43-42 at the half. Then, in the third period, Sannino took command by outscoring the North Jersey squad, 24-18. Tom Perks' nine-point performance led the victors as follows: Mitchell, 24; Bruno, 19; Perks, 18; Ed Bais, 13; Dick Cooper and Bill Stricker, 6; and Bob Kice, 5. White, whose shooting kept the outplay in doubt until the final buzzer, led all scorers with 25.

TIME TO GO HOME

As PRINS' Big Lead, the strain of playing several straight games on the road finally caught up with the Princeton High School basketball team Tuesday. Leading by 11-50-38, with just over three minutes left, the Little Tigers lost on a foul shot, 56 to 52.

It was an all-court press by Somerville that turned the tide. The Little Tigers' defense was sufficiently great and forced enough PRINS errors so that the victors outscored the Little Tigers in the last three minutes, 17 to 5.

Somerville held a 25-23 margin at the half but a fine third period saw Princeton 11-8 move out to an apparently comfortable 43-33. This was increased as the fourth quarter wore on, but when the Somerset County quintet turned to the all-court press, the tide turned.

With 36 seconds left, the Little Tigers still had a 55-54 lead and the ball, but a fumbled pass went out bounding and the home team called for time. The ensuing play brought a field goal by John Blagrove and the clock ran out, leaving no chance for retaliation.

Captain Hank Schmidt paced the team with 17, and John Kowalski and Larry Madden supported him with 14 and 12 respectively. Kowalski had 10 rebounds.

FIRST ROUND ENDS

Industrial League, The MCA Research and Industrial Basketball League completed its first round of competition last week with no change in position among the top three teams.

Sannino remained undefeated and in first place by easily disposing of the Post Office, 82-26. Educational City in Service, in turning back McGraw Hill, 40-35, stayed one game back of Sannino, while RCA Labs trounced Wireless Hospital, 78-10, to cling to third place.

Over Food Machinery & Chemical, coupled with McGraw Hill's defeat, enabled RCA Astro to take over fourth position. The league's high scorer for the week was Sannino's Dick Cooper who combined 16 field goals and two free throws for 54 points. Play will resume this week.

The first half standings:

STUDY HALL TO OPEN

At Dorothea House, Junior and senior high school students will find a haven for study at the Dorothea House, 200 S. Elm, starting February 4. The new Study Center for seniors will be open from 7 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday, as long as the schools are in session.

Designed for teenagers who have no time to study at home and frequently, no adult assistance with their homework, the Study Center will be staffed by volunteers. A tutoring service for students from culturally different backgrounds will be established.

Mrs. Helen Shimborg, coordinator of the project, explains that a study leader and one or two assistants will be on hand each evening to provide the sort of help that could be expected from an interested parent with a strong academic background.

The idea for the Study Center grew from the Princeton Young members of the Unitarian Church's Social Concerns Group, and the Intergroup Relations Committee of the Council of Community Services. A core committee has been set up to coordinate the project since October.

Director of the Study Center staff will be Professor Mark M. Heald of 185 Moore Street, formerly of Princeton University. Mr. Frederick Stohlman of 11 Edgemoor Street is chairman of the tutoring service, assisted by Ronald Glick, a Princeton University undergraduate who is recruiting university students to serve as tutors.

Also active in the core group are Mrs. Rowan, B. Anderson, Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, the Rev. Robert L. Cope, Dr. Benjamin Shimborg, Henry Back of Sannino, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Edwin Latz, Mrs. Gary Fox, Mrs. Sherman Bates, Charles Wiles and Mrs. Stuart Wallace.

Encyclopedias, dictionaries and other reference materials are still needed for the students. Donors should contact Mrs. Shimborg, WA 4-2206.

Mrs. John Brinster, vice-president, will present the year's service pins. All registered adults of the council are urged to attend.

SWIFEXY URGES ACTION
Asks Letter Backing By Pass, Edward J. Sweeney, Princeton, Mercer County Association, has been reappointed to a third term as chairman of the Interstate Relations Committee. He also has been named to a second term on the Committee on Labor and Industrial Relations.

Mrs. Sweeney urged that area residents send him letters which he can present in the Assembly demonstrating popular support for the project. "We can get it through if only the people send me letters," he added. "Busket baskets of letters that I can dump on the Assembly floor."

Critics of opponents to the King-Anderson Site are Mr. Sweeney urged residents to write their Congressmen instructing them to support the measure. "Write to your representatives," he said. "Don't ask them to do your bidding. Demand it!"

DISCUSSIONS PLANNED

On Foreign Policy Series, "Great Decisions," a foreign policy discussion series, will be introduced to the Princeton area at 9 p.m. February 4 by Princeton 13 WNDP. The nationwide TV series consists of eight one-hour programs on consecutive Mondays.
John P. Matthews of 85 Moore Street, a staff member of the Foreign Policy Association which supplies the discussion materials, reviewed the series on Friday at the YMCA before representatives of the organizations.

Topics will include the Common Market, Red China and the USSR, the future of Algeria, Spain and Franco, democracy in India, Laos and Vietnam, the Alliance for Progress and prospects for peace.

The Y, which will help sponsor the series, has made three rooms available for discussion groups each Wednesday evening, beginning February 6.

Mr. Matthews reported that "Great Decisions" groups are active in more than 1,000 communities. "You don't have to be a member of any organization," he said. "You can organize your own neighborhood discussion groups and participate right in your own living room."

YMCA PLANS OBSERVANCE

Of National YMCA Week, The Princeton YMCA will observe the observance of the week with a week-long Open House, starting Sunday and continuing through Saturday at the YMCA building on Avalon Place. Nineteen major events, most of them free, have been scheduled in observance of the event.

Strings of tickets describing each day's major event are being distributed by the nearby 2,000 active members. Tickets for the Open House extend to annual 13 WNDP. The office or from members.

Francis G. Clark, general secretary of the Princeton Y, reported the organization is urging its members and others to attend the church of their choice on Sunday in conjunction with the Y's three-way emphasis on "Mind, Spirit and Body." Many Princeton churches will be using a special cover for their worship services with the problem "YMCA Sunday In Our Church," Mr. Clark said.

Person To Person

The talk continued about Alaska, and the fact came out that not only is the tallest mountain on this continent Cory S. Kammer calmed there, but also we have in Alaska the largest volcanic crater known to man, Mount Katmai, 7,000 feet above sea level, and the crater about 3 miles across and 3,700 feet deep. The Katmai volcano was thought to be dead until it acted up in 1912, blowing the entire top off the mountain, with one of the greatest eruptions in history, showering volcanic ash over Kodiak Island and the nearby Alaska mainland. This huge, largest crater in the world is lined with, of all things, glaciers, an odd lining for a hole covering hot pressured gases that ought to melt the ice. However, when nature does something odd like this we simply accept it as another one of her mysteries. But in the automobile business you do not want anything odd, you want good performance, top economy, low operation and purchase. And you know that we are pledged to provide all this for you. News Of The CHURCHES

FOR PARENTS ONLY

(First in a series of brief articles directed to all concerned parents. Today's author is the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel of the First Presbyterian Church, newly-elected president of the Princeton Pastors Association.)

Teaching Your Child About God. D. T. Niles of Ceylon has stated the Christian beliefs very briefly, simply and clearly that recommends itself to us and which we do well to recommend to our children.

"God made us."
"God loves us."
"Jesus died for us."
"Our trespasses are not counted."
"When we die, we shall go to Him."

But only teach your children these things if you believe them yourself. To try to make part of them what is not part of you is a foolish exercise. To deliver them to church without accompanying them to church is to divorce these things from the parent who is the teacher of them if they are to prove contagious.

We often hear the suggestion that it isn't what we do for our children, it is what we do with them. This is never so true as in the things of faith and the things of the church. Believe with them and share with them the life of the family of God's people.

"No Cleavage." Teach them that there is no cleavage between the sacred and the secular. They might not know for a time what you mean by this kind of jargon, but they will be the best authorities on whether or not the living God is living, determining factor in all of your living.

Do not be afraid to admit to your children that you do not know the answers to all their questions about God, His death and all the related issues. For you to admit that you do not know puts you on something of the same footing with them.

From there you can search out the mysteries of God together, never neglecting the probability that they have something to teach you. What sensitive parent has not been instructed in the things of faith by his children as much as the child comes to know his Father in Heaven in the person of his father on earth?

Be forgiving. Forgive your children their mistakes and be thankful for their readiness to forgive you. They will then begin to be equipped to understand the grace of Christ and the meaning of the Cross.

Share with them the dynamic of thankfulness. If you convey that we do for each other not because we must, not because we feel in trouble if we do not, but we do it in thankful response to God and to each other, then the meaning of Christian motivation will begin to take shape.

When Words Fail. Live out your faith in self-forgiveness and costly concern for other people. This kind of obedience is convincing and confirming where words fail.

Pray with and for your children. There is no better way to establish the awareness that God is not a proposition to be subscribed to, but a person who knows us better than we know ourselves, and whom we can know. Grace at meals is to be encouraged as long as it does not become a matter of rote.

Read the Bible with your children. Keep them out of the ranks of the Biblically illiterate. And discover with them that the Christ whose life is recorded on these pages lives in the hearts of every man, woman and child who will give Him room.

Steer your discussions with your children about God out of the realm of the purely intellectual and abstract where the paradox is anathema. Draw your parallels from the real-

Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel of family living. In the one realm, a loving God who also disciplines his world is in contradiction. In the other, He is a reality of daily life in whom they and we depend.

*D. T. Niles, "Upon the Earth," p. 104.
